DOH - FDA ADVISORY
No. 2011-001

Subject: Immediate Recall of Tentatively Identified Selected Brands of Food Products Imported from Taiwan Contaminated with Diethylhexyl phthalate (DEHP)

Following the recent report that the Taiwanese authorities have discovered that the plasticizer, diethylhexyl phthalate (DEHP) was illegally added to a food product as a clouding agent to improve emulsification of the product, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) hereby issues the tentatively identified selected brands of imported food products believed to be contaminated with DEHP.

List of Selected Brands

1. Attachment I - (in Chinese Characters Annexes I-23)
2. Attachment II - (Tentative English Translation of Attachment I Annexes I-42)

From the list, the following actions shall be implemented by the FDA:

1. Products whether registered or not with the FDA but identified in the list shall be recalled and disposed of accordingly.
2. Products that are not identified in the list but are unregistered with the FDA shall also be recalled and disposed.
3. Lastly, products that are registered but not identified in the list shall be withdrawn from the market and laboratory analyses shall be required from them to confirm the absence of DEHP. Only then shall the products be allowed for redistribution.

For consumers

- Do not use products that have been recalled and throw them away in a manner that prevents others from consuming them.
- Persons who think they may have become ill from consuming the affected products are advised to consult their health care providers.

For distributors, importers and retailers:

- Stop importing and selling the recalled products.

For institutions and food service establishments:

- Ensure that recalled products are not served.

For manufacturers:

- Cease and Desist from purchasing or acquiring the implicated products.
- Inform consumers about whether their products could contain the DEHP substance from their sources in Taiwan which are affected. If a manufacturer knows their products do not contain DEHP, they should inform consumers of that.

The FDA shall continuously monitor and collect products in the local market to ensure the safe supply of products imported from Taiwan.
