CORAZON RUBIO (oic)
Superintendent
Quezon City

2 August 2010

Dear Dr. CORAZON RUBIO (oic)

RE: Challenges of the new millennium

We would like to invite you and your colleagues to the UP-DECL Centennial and the 2nd Access Philippine International English Language Conference on 16 to 17 September 2010 at the SM²X, SM Mall of Asia Complex, Pasay City Philippines. This event will coincide with the Manila International Book Fair, the biggest book fair in the Philippines.

The first conference in 2009 was attended by more than 900 participants coming from 15 countries in Asia and Europe. This year's event is expected to gather together more than 1,000 ELT professionals, education policy experts, representatives of international bodies and decision makers all over the world.

The conference is directed at those involved in the teaching of English, including teachers, trainers, supervisors, inspectors; those responsible for educational management, training and strategy; academics in the field of education; and trainers in the BPO sector. It offers an exciting opportunity for them to share and discuss ideas with an international audience.

Invited Plenary Speakers

In line with the international dimension of the conference, we are inviting the following experts to do the plenaries:

David Graddol

David Graddol is a British applied linguist, well known as a writer, broadcaster, researcher and consultant on issues relating to global English. He is best known for his seminal work entitled "The Future of English" published in 1997. This was followed by "English Next" published in 2006 where he analysed demographic and economic trends in the Twenty First-Century which affect Global English and language policies worldwide and will influence its future. David is currently Managing Director of The English Company (UK) Ltd which provides consultancy and publishing services in applied language studies. He is also the Managing Editor for linguistics books and journals for Equinox Publishing, is joint editor of the journal 'English Today', and is a member of the editorial boards of 'Language Planning and Language Problems' and the 'Journal of Visual Communication'.

Suzanne Romaine

Suzanne Romaine has been a Merton Professor of English Language at the University of Oxford since 1984. She has held a variety of scholarships and visiting fellowships at other prestigious universities all over the world. Her research interests lie primarily in historic linguistics and sociolinguistics and she has conducted extensive fieldwork in Europe as well as in the Pacific Islands region. She was a member of the UNESCO Expert Group that produced UNESCO's position paper on Education in a Multilingual World published in 2003. She co-authored the book Vanishing Voices.

Mina Patel

Mina is an ELT consultant with the Ten Education Consultants, a Malaysia-based consultancy firm that provides consultancy and training in the area of English language teaching for companies, institutions and Ministries of Education in the East Asia Region. She also heads the Research and Symposium Strand of the Regional Access English project of the British Council currently being implemented in 9 countries in East Asia.

Included in this letter are the registration forms (individual and group) and registration procedures.

I am hoping to see you and your colleagues in the conference.

Yours sincerely

Digi Ann Castillo
